Circus says 'sorry' for quagmire left on site

Report by
David Simister

THE operators of a circus which turned a green field into a muddy quagmire have apologised after the event was hit by heavy rain.

Circus of the Orient told The Champion on Monday that they were working with West Lancashire Borough Council to clean the venue site at Churchfields up, which was left looking "like the Somme" according to eye–witnesses.

Neville Wilson, one of the directors of Circus of The Orient, said: "The site was very badly churned up after last weekend's event, which is understandable when you're trying to move 40 tonnes of equipment around a site which saw heavy rain almost non–stop throughout the weekend and unfortunately it couldn't be helped. It is something we are very sorry about and are working with the local council to rectify it as quickly as possible.

"Because of the weather, we didn't do very well with the event in Ormskirk, with a lot of people being put off by the downpours, so for the field to have been left in the way it was is almost extra salt in the wound for us."

The circus, held between last Friday (September 16) and Sunday (September 18) staged several circus shows for West Lancashire residents over the weekend, but due to severe weather and the difficulties

HANNAH TREK RAISES £700

Report by Henry James

Eight–year–old in walk for love of gran

AN eight–year–old girl from Ormskirk has put her best foot forward to raise £700 for charity in support of her grandmother who has Alzheimer's.

Joined by her dad David, Hannah Boult took part in the Central Lancashire Memory Walk, on Sunday, September 11, on behalf of her grandmother, who was diagnosed with Alzheimer's five years ago at the age of 63.

And as Hannah had raised the most money, she was asked by the organisers to lead the walk.

She has also recently been interviewed on radio about the six–mile event at the Longton Brickcroft Nature Reserve.

Hannah's mum, Amanda, said: "It was a special day for Hannah as she led 80 walkers with her dad David, and was first back a couple of hours later to meet the mayor and mayoress of South Ribble.

"Hannah had stopped at the halfway point and some walkers had got in front of her, which she didn't like, so she soon made sure that her dad and her had overtaken them. She never complained once that her legs hurt and kept up the pace with the walkers onthe trek."

The youngster walked to raise money for the Alzheimer's Society as she had found it difficult to watch her granny, who is in a care home, deteriorate from Alzheimer's.

"She had been hoping to raise £500, so to raise £700 is fantastic," added Amanda, who works at Edge Hill University.

"I would like to thank Champion readers for their generosity, as Hannah received some donations following a piece in the newspaper. She also got donations through her family, her friends at Aughton Christ Church C of E Primary School, where she is a pupil, and through her JustGiving page.

"She's got the bug now and wants to do more charity walks."

Campaign grows over village fracking plan

Report by David Simister

SCORES of campaigners camped out in a West Lancashire village last weekend to protest against controversial plans to carry out a drilling operating known as fracking.

The organisers of the Camp Frack event, held at Manor Farm, Hesketh Bank, in protest at plans by Cuadrilla to carry out shale gas drilling in the village, said that more than 150 people from as far afield as Brighton had turned up to voice their objections to the company's plans.

Phil Thornhill of the Campaign against Climate Change, said: "There is no place for the exploitation of any new source of fossil fuel in a national energy policy that represents any realistic effort to avert the catastrophic destabilisation of global climate.

"What's at stake is the direction we're taking in the fight against climate change – towards a zero carbon economy as fast as possible through the rapid development of renewable technologies – or towards the endless deferral of that goal as we exploit every last drop of every new 'unconventional' fossil fuel that we can find.

"The second option guarantees we will be too late and we will see disasters on a scale a hundred times that of the current famine in Somalia. In the UK the battle against shale gas has now become the new front line in the battle against climate change."

Among those staying at the camp were Sefton and West Lancashire councillors, members of Ribble Estuary Against Fracking, and the Blackpool Green Party.

The groups are opposed to shale gas drilling – informally known as fracking – which involves pumping thousands of gallons of water beneath the ground in an attempt to break up a level of shale beneath the surface and release trapped gas below it.

Cuadrilla has argued the practice is safe.

Bill and Nora Melia are backing the Heart of Southport Appeal

Help us to save lives

Report by Natasha Young

ORMSKIRK couple Bill and Nora Melia are giving their full backing to our campaign to raise £152,000 for life–saving equipment at Southport and Formby District General Hospital – and there are plenty of ways that you can help too.

The Champion has joined forces with the British Heart Foundation (BHF) to launch the Heart of Southport Appeal, and called on the support of readers in a bid to purchase a vital 3D Echocardiograph and portable scanner.

By organising your own fundraising event and getting your school, workplace, friends, family or local club involved, you could help make a difference.

Around 18 months ago Bill, now 80, suffered an angina attack and had to undergo a triple heart bypass.

Treatment and rehab at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital Trust helped recovery, but a year later his 78–year–old wife Nora suffered a stroke. She canno longer drive and requires more support from Bill to help her get around, but her hospital treatment has helped.

Bill added: "The scanners are very important, and ever since Nora had her stroke we fill a jar with all our pennies and when it's full we take it to the hospital. We will continue to do that because we are so grateful to all the staff."

To donate call Ken Fretwell on 0151 6782646 or visit bhf.org.uk/southport. Cheques should be made payable to British Heart Foundation. Please quote 'Heart of Southport Appeal' on the reverse and send to: Heart of Southport Appeal, British Heart Foundation, Lyndon Place, 2096 Coventry Road, Sheldon, Birmingham, B26 3YU.

Spicy challenge raises £1,000 for charities

Report by David Simister

THE unlikely challenge of the Spice Girls competing against Take That last weekend resulted in two West Lancashire charities receiving a £1,000 boost.

A team paying tribute to the Mancunian boyband, led by West Lancashire mayor Councillor Rob Bailey, headed to Map Challenges in Skelmersdale to take on a group of Spice Girls, put together by Mayoress Sue Murrin–Bailey.

The teams took part in a series of challenge competitions to help raise funds for the West Lancashire Women's Refuge and the borough's Community First Responders.

Sue Murrin–Bailey told The Champion: "The challenge, designed to show a different side to mayoral proceedings, saw the 10 participants covered in mud, clambering over the 45 obstacles armed with a 12ft pole.

"What better way to spend your time?

"The serious side to the fun challenge event was to raise money towards the mayoress's Ccharities, the Community First Responders (portable defibrillators) and the Women's Refuge (children's facilities) which are both targeted to improve lives in West Lancashire."

The Take That team were hoping they could storm to a victory but in the end the Spice Girls reigned victorious after establishing a 20m lead over their determined male rivals during the assault course challenges.

The final amount raised by the event will be more than £1,000 but anyone keen on helping the mayoral charities further is being urged to send a donation, however, small, to Ann England, Mayor's Office, WLBC, Derby Street, Ormskirk.

Visit our website at www.champnews.com to check out a video of both teams in action in the competition.

Van gang raid bike business

THE owners of a motorbike business in Burscough have been left counting the cost after their showroom was targeted by a gang of thieves last weekend.

Lancashire Constabulary confirmed that it was investigating after five men in a van pulled up outside Blacks Bike Shop, on Tollgate Road at 1pm last Saturday and removed two motorcycles from the showroom.

The raiders stole a KTM 450cc model, which was ridden away from the showroom, but they were unsuccessful in attempting to steal a KTM 530cc model which was abandoned outside the premises.

Report by David Simister

Police said that they have arrested one man on suspicion of robbery in connection with the incident, a 17–year–old male from Liverpool, who has been bailed until October 17.

If you have any information about the raid, contact police on 0845 1253545 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Media boss checks out Champ

AN INFLUENTIAL media expert checked out The Champion – and caught up with a former colleague!

Clive Marshall, chief executive of the Press Association Group, visited our offices on Lord Street to speak to Phil Lilley, editorial director at Champion Media Group, and to praise the success of The Champion series of newspapers.

Mr Marshall, who grew up in Ainsdale but heads up the PA from its offices in London, said of The Champion: "I think it's great to see newspapers thriving. So much of the coverage at the moment about newspapers is that there's no future, but there clearly is a future, not just at The Champion but at lots of newspaper groups, and that's good to see.

"One of the biggest changes I've seen is that when I started there was just newspapers and a few radio stations, whereas now it's almost limitless, with internet and mobiles and iPads. People can get their news in just about every way imaginable, so the potential now for news and content is greater than it's ever been."

Mr Marshall begun working in regional newspapers in the late 1970s and has gone on to hold a string of influential roles, including heading up the Australian Associated Press before returning to the UK in February last year to take up his current role, which sees him overseeing one of the UK's largest news organisations.

Champion editorial director Phil Lilley, who worked alongside Mr Marshall in Southport in the late 70s, said:

"It was wonderful catching up with Clive after more than 30 years. We started our advertising careers together in Southport and I often wondered what became of the flame haired young 'go getter' after we both went our separate ways in the industry.

"The success Clive has achieved in heading up the Press Association and previously its equivalent in Australia is no surprise to those who worked alongside him when he was a precocious 19–year–old."

Mr Marshall also gave his views on where the UK's media industry is heading. Click on to www.champnews.com.

Hospital reopens exit door

New call for redundancies despite 300 offers to go

Report by Natasha Young

Jonathan Parry

HOSPITAL staff are being invited to apply for voluntary redundancy – despite the trust being inundated with applications to leave when the scheme was launched earlier this year.

More than 300 workers at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital Trust responded to the original call for voluntary redundancies but The Champion can reveal that only 55 applications for staff to leave have been approved.

Staff were previously invited to apply as the trust announced it was looking to axe up to 125 posts to help save £8.5m – 5% of its budget – over the 2011–12 financial year.

The deal offers one month's wages for each year of service with a maximum of 24 months, and the trust is once again looking for people to come forward by October 10.

Jonathan Parry, the trust's chief executive, said: "For some time we have frozen vacancies, where appropriate, and not filled posts which have become vacant. Earlier this year, we also canvassed staff interest in voluntary redundancy.

"We received more than 300 expressions of interest and, so far, we have approved 55 applications for staff to leave the organisation.

"Each application is individually assessed by a panel of executive directors who undertake a value for money assessment of each application to assess the impact on patient care and ensure that the loss of the post would be in the financial and operational interests of the trust."

Closures 'threat to law and order'

PLANS to close the front counter at Ormskirk's police station must be reconsidered to avoid residents losing faith in the town's law and order.

That's the warning this week from the Ormskirk Community Partnership, who told The Champion on Monday that it was urging Lancashire Constabulary to rethink controversial proposals to close the Derby Street site.

The group said in a statement: "Whilst it is recognised that, during these stringent times, money has to be saved in order to meet government guidelines we, as a voluntary group formed with the object of making our town better, are appalled at the proposed closure of the front desk at the town's police station and fearful that this will result in the loss of our police station altogether.

Report by David Simister

"Its location, next to the magistrates' court has been the centre point of law and order for the whole district and this downgrading has to be reconsidered if the public are not to lose faith in our police force altogether. This is hardly the way to encourage the public to liaise, co–operate and engage with the police force."

Police plan to close Ormskirk's front counter, and police points at Aughton, Scarisbrick, Rufford, Mawdesley, Croston, Burscough and Parbold as part of efforts to slash £42m from its spending.

The community partnership argues that closing the police stations in the villages surrounding Ormskirk would create additional demand for the Ormskirk town centre site, and that the town's future growth and the expanding student population would mean a greater need for a front counter.

The group's spokesperson added: "The current plans appear to send a clear, morale–busting message to West Lancashire – 'You don't count and we don't care'. We understand that other towns in Lancashire may have a similar footfall to Ormskirk at present but there cannot be many whose requirements will grow, due to position and transport links as much as Ormskirk."

Residents concerned about the cuts can write to Local Divisional Commander at Leyland Police Divisional Headquarters, Lancastergate, Leyland, PR25 2EX.

Jean, 69, races to Manx win

Report by Natasha Young

A PENSIONER with a passion for motorbikes has raced to victory in the Isle of Man.

Jean Johnson, 69, beat competitors to win the Somerset Shield in the ladies section of the Manx Grand Prix event, hosted by the Vintage Motorcycle Club.

She competed on her Triumph Tiger Club bike, which she has owned for 20 years, round one lap of the TT course.

Competitors had to maintain a speed of 24 mph riding a vintage bike.

Mrs Johnson has shared an enthusiasm for motorbikes with her husband Alan since they were teenagers.

As a member of the North West section of the Vintage Motorcycle Club, which meets at the Barons Club at Burscough Bridge, she travels around the country to biking events.

She said: "I was delighted to win the Somerset Shield, because it's one of the biggest things to win on the Isle of Man."

Extra patrols in crackdown on country crime

Farmers urged to watch out for rogues

Report by David Simister

HARE coursing, poaching and theft of farm machinery are among the crimes being targeted in joint operation covering West Lancashire's countryside.

Lancashire Constabulary has teamed up with Environment Agency, United Utilities and other agencies as part of Operation Firecrest, which will see extra patrols deployed as part of a major operation to tackle rural crime.

Supt Richard Spedding from Lancashire Constabulary, one of the officers spearheading the operation, said: "Nationally, there has been a marked increase in rural crime but fortunately, here in Lancashire, any increases in rural crime have been small and overall crime levels across the county are still low.

"However, any increase will clearly cause concern, particularly amongst communities who feel isolated like rural communities, which is why we are determined to take action.

"The most common type of offences in our rural communities include fuel and scrap metal theft as well as theft of agricultural machinery and offences like poaching and hare coursing. These are the type of activities we hope to target as part of Operation Firecrest.

"Our intention is to offer advice and reassurance to our rural communities to help prevent crime, to work with local communities to detect crime and of course, to target offenders and send a clear message to them that their behaviour is not acceptable and will most likely result in arrest."

The force said that in addition to more officers being deployed to rural areas to help provide a visible deterrant to criminals, multi–agency roadside checks will also be taking place throughout this week to identify travelling criminals and to deter the theft of livestock and plant equipment.

Farmers, landowners and gamekeepers in West Lancashire are also being encouraged to help the police in the operation through initiatives including Farm Watch and Rural Watch, and to report any suspicious activity to the police.

Rural Watch reported a spate of thefts from farms in West Lancashire earlier this year.

Anybody who would like to speak to an officer to discuss concerns about rural crime or report suspicious activity that they have seen and not yet reported, should contact Lancashire Constabulary on 0845 1 25 35 45.

Stop whinging call at 'hidden camera' siting

Report by
David Simister

DRIVERS caught out by a 'camouflaged' speed camera got no sympathy from most Champion readers this week.

Although hedges on Parbold Hill had been cut back by Lancashire County Council, the patch directly in front of the road's safety camera had been left uncut, leading motorists to claim it was deliberate ploy to trap them.

But several West Lancashire residents contacted The Champion to say that the camera – which catches more speeding motorists than any other in the borough – only annoys drivers who flout the law.

Ormskirk resident Robert Wall said: "It is very simple, if people drive within the speed limit they are observing the law and have nothing to fear from any speed camera no matter how dastardly well it has been 'camouflaged'.

"They are also reducing the risk of an accident – surely a good thing? I assume some drivers want to see it in advance so that they can slow down, stick to the speed limit for a few yards and then speed up again."

Camouflage camera

Burscough resident Neil Jakes was among the many readers who pointed out that while the camera may have been obscured, the 30mph limit sign was clearly in view.

"There is a perfectly adequate sign well before you reach that speed camera," he said. "If you don't see the sign, then you probably shouldn't be holding a driving licence, and if you do see the sign and decide to go over the speed limit anyway then you deserve everything you get."

But other readers maintained that the site of the speed camera made it difficult for motorists to see, and that the high number of drivers caught out by it showed that it was ineffective at slowing drivers down.

Ed Dickinson, from Ormskirk, said: "If its purpose was to prevent accidents and preserve life at this apparent black spot, then to site it in easy view could be expected to serve that purpose.

"If its purpose was solely to raise revenue then to hide from view, does seem the perfect plan. The word 'unscrupulous' comes to mind."

The council said last week that it was unable to cut the hedge in front of the camera due to a risk of its machinery damaging it, but added that it had sent workmen to cut the foliage by hand.

MP backs full soccer disaster disclosure call

A PARLIAMENTARY debate calling for the full disclosure of all government documents relating to the 1989 Hillsborough disaster has been welcomed by West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper.

Ms Cooper added her name along with 138,000 other people in signing the e–petition calling for full disclosure of the papers.

The Backbench Business Committee of the House of Commons announced that a half–day debate will take place on October 17 2011. Families have been demanding the release of papers for many years.

The MP will be speaking in the debate supporting the calls to release the government papers.

Report by Henry James

Ms Cooper said: "I have received correspondence from constituents who lost loved ones on April 15, 1989 at Hillsborough. This parliamentary debate is an opportunity for their voices to be heard. I just hope the Government will be listening.

"For 22 years the families of the 96 have fought for justice with dignity with the one aim for the truth of that day's events to be known.

"The scale and breadth of the support for this petition from people across the country and parties across the political spectrum demonstrates a unity and belief of the need for justice for the 96. I have written to the Cabinet Office calling on them to withdraw their appeal against the Information Commissioner's ruling that the government papers should be released in the public interest."

If people are willing to share their experiences or stories of Hillsborough, then Ms Cooper will seek to use them in her debate speech to demonstrate why the disclosure of the papers should take place.

The MP is asking that anyone in West Lancashire who lost a loved one in the Hillsborough tragedy or who was a spectator at the game to get in touch with her office on 01695 570094, or email rosie@rosiecooper.net.

Churned up Coronation Park field alongside Churchfields churned up by a visit from the circus over the weekend. Code1045166 in installing and removing the Big Top the field was severely churned up by Monday morning.

Circus operators apologise for Ormskirk field quagmire

Ormskirk resident Geoff Murray was among the readers who got in touch about the condition of the site, and said:

"I have just got back from walking in Coronation park, and after the circus left the area looks more like the Somme in 1914 than Ormskirk 2011. I trust the circus will be charged for the damage they have caused, as it would be unfair to ask rate payers to foot the bill.

"I know the weather was bad, but this would be even more reason not to let what little green areas we have, be ruined by minority interest events such as funfairs and circuses."

The Champion also approached West Lancashire Borough Council for a statement on the condition of the field, but it was unavailable to comment before this week's edition went to press.

Just magic for kids!

Centre offers chance to make friends with cuddly creatures

One of the centre's cuddly chinchillas

Report by Henry James

STAFF at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre in Burscough are promising a magical time this weekend at their most popular event of the year.

With over 5,000 people attending last year's Animal Magic event, they are expecting hundreds of families to take the opportunity to get up close to a variety of birds and animals.

Animals featured at the event, mostly indoors, include meerkats, Asian short–clawed otters, alpacas, chinchillas, Shetland ponies, Kune Kune pigs and lots of birds, reptiles and insects. There's even a cuddly skunk.

Centre manager Andy Wooldridge said: "Animal Magic is our most popular family event at the centre. We always try to do events at the centre that provide a fantastic opportunity for our visitors to experience something new.

Children can get very close to stroke animals such as greyhounds, skunks and meerkats at one event. You can see all kinds of animals you probably wouldn't come across in your day to day life and it is amazing to see so many children enjoy the experience."

Between 11am and 12.30pm, and 2pm and 4pm there will be free pond dipping at the Pond House to see what creatures you can see in the ponds. There will also be a range of family craft activities for children between 11am and 4pm including face painting. Some activities may include a small charge.

The event is taking place from 10am to 4pm and normal admission prices will apply to enter the centre.

For information on these events and other activities happening at the centre visit www.wwt.org.uk/martinmere and click on events, or call 01704 891220.

Rev Chris Jones

Vicar calls for happy return to church

Report by Henry James

REMEMBER the joy of your church wedding day or baptism celebration?

The Rev Chris Jones, vicar of Ormskirk Parish Church, wants families to remember the special moments by joining Back to Church Sunday, a national initiative which aims to give people a fresh understanding of what church is like.

Congregations have been handing out invitations to friends and family, and Chris wants to further extend this invitation to the whole area with no strings attached.

All members of the community are welcome to attend the 9.45am service on Sunday, September 25. Tea, coffee and biscuits will be served before the service starts.

Mr Jones said: "Church is for everyone, and it doesn't matter how long it has been since you last attended.

"This year we have also sent invitations to families who have held baptisms or weddings at the church. We feel it is important that people know they are welcome at any time and not just on family occasions.

"There will be no pressure to keep returning – we just want people to know that we are here for you whenever you need us.

"As well as Sunday services, we have a lot of midweek activities you may be interested in, so come along and find out more."

Back to Church Sunday began in 2004 in the Diocese of Manchester, and by 2008 virtually all dioceses, most Baptist churches and others took part. In 2009 the Methodist Church and Salvation Army also promoted it. For more information on Back to Church Sunday visit www.liverpool.anglican.org/backtochurch

Venue switch for protest meeting

Report by David Simister

A PROTEST group's meeting to debate a legal move to save the village police point will now be held in a nearby pub after the organisers were forced to change the venue.

The Champion reported that a group of Aughton residents had launched a bid to save the police facility at Town Green Railway Station.

The group's aim is to persuade the parish council to take over the police site's lease by, if necessary, holding a republic referendum on the issue.

The group's meeting to discuss the issue will still be held on Monday, September 26 at 7.30pm, but due to the the village hall being unavailable, the event will now be held at the Town Green Inn, on Town Green Lane.

Meeting organiser Alan Lenton and other residents believe the parish council could be forced to take on the lease for the police point under Section 17 of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998.

This states that bodies such as the parish council have a duty to reduce crime and disorder, and that allowing the police station to close is in breach of this legislation.

The residents contend the council has money in its reserves to do this.

The Aughton site is one of several Lancashire Constabulary are looking to close as part of controversial proposals to cut costs. The outcome of a consultation on the issue of West Lancashire's police stations is expected to be published later this year.

It's no wonder they think we still use woad!

How can anyone take our MP Rosie Cooper seriously?

I accidentally watched her performance in the Commons earlier this week. She was so imposing that I can not remember the issue on which she was pontificating.

Her delivery was garbled, stilted and lacked cohesion.

What are we doing in West Lancs having such a woefully incompetent to represent us in Westminster?

It's no wonder that other parts of the country think we still use woad.

Jim Millar,
By email

Parbold Hill speed camera misses the cut!

I have read with interest the pros and cons of the speed camera on Parbold Hill.

I should now point out that the latest development unequivocally leaves one in no doubt the reason behind its location.

Recently, a stretch of hedges 200 metres long were cut right back, however the last 10 metres of hedge before the camera was intentionally left leaving the camera totally invisible until one is alongside it.

Perhaps someone would care to explain how this hidden camera stops newcomers to the area from speeding, surely if they are speeding when they approach the bend the camera has had no effect on their speed and has succeeded in its obvious raison d'être of raising revenue.

David Henshall,
Newburgh

• Council workers spent most of Friday, September 2, cutting back the hedges on the left side of Parbold Hill in the direction of the village.

They have finished the work a good six feet before the camera so that the camera is still obscured by foliage. Obviously hoping for more revenue.

Liz Foulds,
By email

Editor's note: This was a story The Champion followed up in last week's edition under the headline 'Cam–bushed.'

When we contacted Lancashire County Council about the uncut hedge, a council team went out to trim the rest of the hedge back, so exposing the speed camera. The council claimed its team was unable to cut around the camera for fear of damaging it with their flail machine. It was eventually cut back by hand

Lisa Nandy MP should pay a visit to Maharishi – she just might learn something

I suggest that Lisa Nandy MP for Wigan and shadow education secretary Andy Burnham pay a visit to the Maharishi School (Champion September 7) in Lathom.

According to pupils there is no bullying, there is no violence towards teachers. A perfect environment for learning, which is proved by academic results most schools can only dream of; as shown by the 'outstanding overall' result obtained from Ofsted for the last 25 years.

Lisa Nandy MP complains about wasting tax–payers money and unemployment figures, I am sure I and other tax payers would be only to willing to fund other non–selective schools run along the same lines as the Maharishi Schools because as the results show the education given would reduce unemployment and, may I suggest, also result in a drop in prison places, which in the long run would save the tax payer billions and lead to a more well mannered society.

H. Pennington,
Ormskirk

Great delivery!

I wish to tell you that the Champion delivery man on Inskip is excellent.

He delivers the newspaper in all sorts of weather, on time or even earlier! I live in an above–street level flat, but he runs up the stairs and puts The Champion newspaper through the letter box.

Newspaper delivery is a difficult job, especially in the type of weather we have experienced over the summer months.

I, in turn, when I purchase anything, always try to buy from advertisers in your newspaper, as I know without them, there would be no Champion.

Thank you for such a great newspaper (free of charge) and a great delivery person.

Other areas in greater need of police presence

With reference to Cllr Una Atherley letter Issue 36, I had to laugh.

Although I agree in principle to her sentiments expressed regarding local volunteers manning the fort at Town Green Railway Police Station, I do think that there are other areas in greater need of police presence.

Knowing the area well, I would hardly consider Town Green to be one of West Lancs criminal hotspots! Maybe one or two folk fare dodging on the train perhaps?

Unfortunately, the current government is intent on cutting all public services, being a civil servant I know this only too well. It is now a fact of life that these cost cutting measures are affecting everyone, even those wealthier citizens in lovely leafy Granville Park.

Perhaps Cllr Atherley and chums could volunteer as community support officers, patrolling the dodgier areas of Aughton.

Mrs J Heeney,
Ormskirk

Take a look at Tawd Valley Park for a change

WITH reference to your recent article 'Blue Ribbon Awards' for Coronation Park, and the Beacon Country Park.

Is it not time that WLBC looked to Tawd Valley Park? Tawd Park is a focal point for Skelmersdale and should be afforded the same attention and funding as those recently applauded.

I have lived in this town for many years and have been disgusted by the neglect of the park by successive councils. The present council has ploughed money and resources into Ormskirk and the Beacon Park (mainly a golf course) for years but, like Skelmersdale Town, the Tawd is forgotten.

It is time for our 'caring council' to be just that. Ormskirk has a park to be proud of, so should Skelmersdale.

Local politicians should stop sitting on the fence

WHAT do all politicians need to have?

And by this I don't mean what we would like them to posess, such as integrity, openness, honesty – things like that.

Many do posess at least some of these admirable qualities.

What do all politicians have, apart from of course an ego the size of a London bus? And the answer, of course, must be the skin of a rhino. And nowhere more do they need this than on their backsides.

Not just for the protection thereof, but also for the somewhat uncomfortable, and sometimes precarious, sitting on fences.

Just for once, national politicians are probably not so guilty of this as local ones tend to be – simply because they are constrained by national politics and whips to defend or oppose anything because that is party policy.

Occasionally one steps out of line – and there is another promising career at Westminster gone down the gurgler.

In a more local sense, though, it is far more easy.

You can sit astride any particular fence and say in two breaths "Yes, I can see that would be very beneficial" to one side while saying "Of course I understand your objection" to another. And that way, whichever direction the ultimate result takes, you can say, hand on heart that you a) supported the victor and b) you tried your best for the vanquished.

And in some ways there's nothing wrong with that. There are usually two sides to every story, and on occasion it may be true that both sides have equally valid points.

The problem is exacerbated when it comes to planning matters.

A local councillor cannot express a view definitely for or definitely against any planning application without then not being able to vote when the time comes.

So a councillor can, and many do, give the best advice he or she can to both sides of the argument if the arguers ask for it.

And that again is fine and dandy – except that the same advice can surely be obtainable from the borough council's planning department. I would like to think a local politician's role was wider than acting as a sort of citizen's advice bureau.

They have, after all, access to information not readily available to Joe Public.

They, unlike most of the 'ordinary' people concerned, can get detailed facts and figures relating to both sides of the debate. And if, through this, they realise it is not a good scheme for the community as a whole, then it seems a pity they are constrained in what they say.

I don't pretend to know how to settle this particular aspect of the thing, but I do feel that clear and concise leadership would often be a help.

And if politics is now an integral part of local government then let us hear, loud and clear, about any particular stance on any particular issue.

It is certainly true that you can't please all the people all of the time.

Perhaps politicians, with their rhino skin, could be brave enough to accept you can't always please some of the people some of the time.

They should learn that sometimes you have to stand up, be counted and maybe make yourself unpopular for the common good.

The Mossock Hall Golf Club team with their trophies

Club golfers celebrate winning Jubilee League

Report by Henry James

GOLFERS at a West Lancashire club are celebrating after winning a top title.

A team from Mossock Hall Golf Club, Bickerstaffe, were crowned Lancashire Jubilee League champions after beating Eccleston Park Golf Club in the final nail–biting encounter of the season,

Also involved in the league were: Hurlston Hall GC; Houghwood GC in St Helens; Alder Root GC in Warrington, Poulton Park GC in Warrington, Sutton Hall GC in Runcorn, Standish Golf Club, and Hart Common GC in Westhoughton.

The team added the Jubilee crown to the league title they won last year, fighting back from 2–0 down to win 3–2.

The title is played for over 2yrs with each team comprising of ten players, with five pairs being formed. Each match is played four ball better ball (like the Ryder Cup).

The overall match is decided by the total points gained by each over the five games.

Team vice captain Joe Paton said: "This is the best trophy the club has won in its history and it is a tough league to win. The fact that we won reflects well on the strength and depth of the membership at Mossock Hall."

Uni station goes on air

STUDENTS in Ormskirk are being urged to tune into a new radio station being launched today (September 21) at Edge Hill University.

L:39 Radio, named after the university's postcode, is promising students at the St Helens Road campus news, music and entertainment, and is being launched at the Freshers' Fair taking place on campus today.

A statement on the station's Facebook page said: "The station is the brand new for students, powered by a team of dedicated and talented students and managed by James Reid Hutchinson, a presenter and businessman with seven years experience in the world of broadcasting. The new station is revolutionary stuff for the people of Ormskirk, Liverpool and beyond."

For more information on how you can tune go to www.twitter.com/l39radio or find the radio station on Facebook.

Knitty–gritty for boaters

A WEST Lancashire couple who run a floating wool shop are getting ready to knit their festive–themed jumpers in time for Christmas.

Colin and Carole Wareing, who operate their knitwear shop from the Patty–Ann canal boat, are currently on the Bridgewater Canal near Daresbury, but will be heading back towards West Lancashire to berth at Burscough Wharf on October 2, followed by a visit to Parbold on October 15 and 16.

"My back was killing me... until I discovered a miracle in Banbury"

"I suffered with severe back pain since fracturing a vertebra playing football," says John Parsons.

"I tried every treatment and therapy known to man including spinal surgery, which made it a lot worse. Eventually in desperation I went to see a Doctor of Chiropractic in Banbury. He made a few gentle and specific adjustments to realign the body and remove nerve pressure and after a few sessions I was pain free - for the first time in 30 years!

"I was so impressed I qualified as a Chiropractor myself, and I now help people with back pain just the way I was helped - and not just back pain, I see people with every conceivable problem - neck pain, foot pain, knee pain, fibromyalgia, migraines, 'trapped' nerves, muscle pain, headaches etc.

"I would like to help as many people as possible so until the 30/9/11 I am offering a chiropractic session for £30 which includes the initial consultation for FREE (usually £54)

New stroke group seeks volunteers

VOLUNTEERS are needed to help make people feel welcome at a new stroke group opening this month in West Lancashire.

The first meeting of the group, part of The Stroke Association's Information, Advice and Support service in Lancashire, will be held at Skelmserdale Cricket Club in Lathom on September 27.

The group will then meet on the last Tuesday of the month, 10am–noon.

Emma Dacey, who runs the group and coordinates the Information, Advice and Support service, said: "The aim of the group is to bring people together to socialise and get advice from us and each other.

"We are hoping that people will join us for refreshments and an enjoyable and informative group. We are going to organise guest speakers and some outings too."

Emma is also looking for volunteers to help make people feel welcome, join the conversations, and provide much–needed transport to help people attend the group.

Current volunteer Sue Kanski, 66, from Burscough, had a stroke in January 2010, which left her with left–sided weakness. She said: "I decided to give up my own time, to help other stroke survivors, as I felt I could help others by sharing my own experience."

Another volunteer Sue Parker, 60, also from Burscough, has worked for Lancashire County Council Social Services in many roles, including managing services for disabled people for 33 years. She has now retired and decided to give up her time for The Stroke Association because she feels that she has a lot of skills and experience working with physically disabled people to regain control over their lives.

Sue said: "The group is much needed due to the reduction in other services in the area. I feel that anyone affected by stroke in West Lancashire will undoubtedly benefit."

As well as providing a group, the Information, Advice and Support service involves staff from the Stroke Association working closely with hospital stroke teams and health professionals to support people in their transition from hospital to home and onwards.

Staff provide a listening ear, practical information including what other organisations can offer locally, and emotional support in adjusting to life after stroke.

For more information, contact Emma on 01772 456138.

Campaign launched over seatbelts

THE police have launched a campaign to convince people of the need to wear a seatbelt.

Throughout this month, officers will be out speaking to those who flout the law and warning them that neglecting to wear a belt can have serious consequences for themselves and their passengers.

Road Policing Inspector Kev Otter said: "It is evident from our observations and injuries suffered in crashes that too many people still don't wear their seatbelts.

"It's an offence that is viewed as trivial to many.

"However, in that moment when you need it, a seatbelt will make the difference between suffering a minor injury to one that is life–threatening or life changing."

People caught not wearing a seatbelt in a vehicle can be given a fixed penalty notice of £60.

The seatbelts campaign comes as part of Operation Pathway, a Force–wide campaign that sees high profile action days on the county's roads aimed at saving lives and protecting people.

Bosses asked to skills' showcase

Report by
David Simister

Group aims to forge new links

BUSINESSES across West Lancashire are being invited to view the skills available among the borough's unemployed at a back–to–work event next week.

Action For Employment (A4E) is holding an event in Skelmersdale next Tuesday (September 27) to forge links with companies as part of its Government remit to help unemployed residents get back into work.

Gillian Elston, team leader at A4e Skelmersdale, said: "The aim of the event is to build closer ties with businesses and help them with filling vacancies. Every week, hundreds of people who are looking for a job come to our centre. Some of them are experienced and skilled professionals who would be an asset to any company, so by working with local businesses we are hoping it will be mutually beneficial.

"By working with us, we can help reduce businesses' recruitment costs, provide interviewing facilities and provide in work support to successful applicants."

The company is one of the private firms tasked by the Government to deliver its new Work Programme, and provides training to people looking for work in a bid to help match them up with new jobs in their area.

The event takes place at the company's offices at Whelmar House, on Southway, from 12pm, with a presentation at 12.20pm and a buffet lunch from 12.45pm.

To reserve a place, contact Gillian Elston on 01695 733275 or emailGElston@A4e.co.uk

Pub brings top award on board

Ray McKinty (left) with chef Steve, Charlotte and Pauline at The Ship Inn. Code1038478

Report by
David Simister

A LATHOM pub which enjoyed a revival after being reopened under new ownership last year is to be presented with a prestigious CAMRA prize tomorrow (September 22).

The Southport and District branch of the Campaign for Real Ale said that the owners of The Ship Inn, on Wheat Lane, would be presented with the 2011 Country Pub of the Year award at this year's Southport Beer Festival, which takes place this weekend at the Scarisbrick Hotel.

Mike Perkins, CAMRA spokesman, told The Champion: "The Ship reopened under new ownership last year and since then the place has thrived, with the team making of a very good job with the place. It's a deserving winner, with plenty of good real ales on offer, friendly staff and it makes the best of a great canalside location.

"It's following the pattern forged by the nearby Hop Vine last year, which went through a very similar revival, and our message to people is to go out and enjoy these rural pubs, because they're more vulnerable to closure than the ones in the town centres. Use them, or lose them."

The Ship Inn reopened in November last year after an extensive revamp by Ray and Sandra McKinty and Dave and Maria Coyle, and has now become so popular that during weekends dining at the venue often needs to be booked ahead.

Maria Coyle told The Champion:

"We are so proud to be considered a proper British pub by enthusiasts and CAMRA are acknowledged experts in the field.

"Above all we are a country pub at heart in a lovely canal–side location, our food is locally sourced plus we serve a great range of cask ales and premium beers, so the entire Ship team are thrilled to receive such a perfect accolade."

The Southport Beer Festival takes place from tomorrow until Saturday (September 24).

Tributes paid to racing legend

Ginger McCain with one of his horses

Report by
Natasha Young

TRIBUTES have been paid to the legendary racehorse trainer Ginger McCain who died this week just before his 81st birthday.

Ginger, real name Donald, was dubbed "the king of Aintree" after guiding Red Rum to three Grand National victories.

He passed away at his Cheshire home on Monday following a short illness. His family were at his bedside.

Ginger, who stabled Red Rum behind his garage showroom and trained him on Southport beach, is also considered by many to be the saviour of the Grand National in the 1970s.

The world famous Aintree steeplechase was suffering from a drop in attendance and the racecourse faced being sold off for houses before his 1973, 1974 and 1977 wins helped its revival.

As he went on to win the Grand National for the fourth time in 2004, with Amberleigh House, Ginger became the first individual to be awarded the Honorary Freedom of Sefton.

Councillor Peter Dowd, the leader of Sefton Council, said: "Ginger really raised the profile of Southport in the 1970s when the world was captivated by the story of Red Rum training on the resort's beaches.

"As a freeman of the borough, Ginger was always highly regarded throughout Sefton and often said Southport remained his true home. Our thoughts and sympathy go to his family and many friends."

The chairman of Aintree Racecourse, Lord Daresbury, said: "The Aintree team are deeply saddened at the news of Ginger's death and our thoughts are very much with the McCain family at this difficult time. Ginger was a local man and a true National legend. His four Grand National victories, three with Red Rum and his more recent win with Amberleigh House was an unbelievable achievement and brought the Grand National even closer to the nation's heart. Ginger was a terrific supporter of the racecourse – we will badly miss him."

Ginger is survived by wife Beryl, daughter Joanne and Donald jnr. The family will hold a private funeral, with a memorial service later.

Pandora's Box
the less you wear, the more it matters

"Pandora's Box celebrates 20 years in business this year in style!"

Pandora's Box is one of Ormskirk's premier retail businesses, and has been family run for 20 years. They are a women's boutique, selling lingerie, swimwear, shoes, clothes and accessories. They will be celebrating in style at the end of this month by way of a 20 year Anniversary promotion weekend and exclusive V.I.P evening. This momentous milestone is particularly significant in the present economic climate, as much of the focus on retail of late has been extremely negative. With small and huge organisations alike going out of business on a daily basis, Pandora's Box's triumph is definitely one to be celebrated. Pandora's Box has an excellent reputation and is widely known throughout the North West, specifically in Ormskirk and surrounding areas.

The business began on a market stall 20 years ago and they quickly moved into the indoor market in Ormskirk and then into Wheatsheaf Walk, where they are today. Originally selling only lingerie, Pandora's Box has been selling shoes and clothes now since 2007 when they expanded into the unit next door. Pandora's Box is very much a local institution for many women where they can come and seek advice, feel good or just simply have a catch up, and hopefully it will continue to be so for another 20 years! Please look out for their advert in next week's Champion for more details. For an invitation to their V.I.P evening, please email them on info@thelessyouwear.com or call 01695 577881. They are located in Ormskirk. 1-2 Wheatsheaf Walk. Or visit their website www.thelessyouwear.com

Simon’s just champion!

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE star Simon Kerrigan was celebrating a double this week – after helping Ormskirk Cricket Club win the Liverpool Competition Premier League.

The 22–year–old left arm spinner had helped to bowl his county to their first championship title since 1934 on Thursday when they defeated Somerset. Then on Saturday, he stepped out for Ormskirk – taking three wickets for five runs as Rainford were all out for only 60 runs.

The captain of Ormskirk Cricket Club’s first team, Ian Robinson, said: “Simon’s success has escalated quickly. He played four championship games for us this year and he has had a massive impact.

“He is very professional and he is an excellent bowler and has taken 43 league wickets for us in 12 games. He takes his wickets for us for few runs and has done really well. I am also pleased the Lancashire players have won the title. We have played against a lot of people who have played in the Lancashire squad.”

Simon has played for for four seasons at OrmskirkCC who last won the league in 2008.

In the second to last game of the County Championship, Kerrigan took nine wickets for 51 runs against Hampshire. These were the best bowling figures for a Lancashire player since Roy Tattersall’s nine wickets for 40 runs in 1953.

Kerrigan, who took a five wicket haul on his debut for Lancashire against Warwickshire, is being tipped to be a future England star.

Kenny and Marina at the Formby event

Stars come out to help hospital

GENERATIONS of football legends came together this week to support a charity golf event hosted by Marina Dalglish.

Marina and her husband, Liverpool FC manager Kenny, were joined at Formby Golf Club by former Liverpool and Everton heroes including Alan Hansen, David Fairclough, Steve Staunton, Alan Stubbs, Ronnie Whelan, former manager Roy Evans, Paul Bracewell, David Johnson and ex England captain Alan Shearer.

John Bishop provided comic relief at the event and David Moyes, manager of Kenny's rival club Everton also showed his support.

Marina has already been involved in developing the Marina Dalglish Chemotherapy Unit and the Radiotherapy Centre both at Aintree Hospital, which provide local cancer treatment and relieve patients from having to travel long distances to Clatterbridge. She organised the golf day to raise money for a new project she is currently funding with the West Lancashire Community Hospice Association to provide a much needed medical day unit extension.

The unit, which will be at Southport and Formby District General Hospital, will provide chemotherapy and haematology services to local residents.

It is hoped enough money will be raised for work to begin on the unit in the spring and will be complete by 2012.

Pink footed geese arriving at Martin Mere.

Visitors wing in from Iceland

Report by
David Simister

ONE of the most spectacular sights at Martin Mere can be seen as migrating geese arrive at the West Lancashire wetland reserve from Iceland over the next few weeks.

The geese started arriving at the weekend after their 500–mile journey, with thousands more expected at the wetlands trust, near Burscough, as they stop to feed on their journey to southern parts of UK.

There could be as many of 30,000 flocking to the mere.

Centre manager Andy Wooldridge, said: "I have seen many changes in the last 30 years but none as great as the massive increase in the number of geese travelling through Lancashire.

"Late September and October is one of the best times of the year to visit Martin Mere as it is amazing to see the geese fly in during the afternoon to roost on the mere."

Andy estimates that around 25% of the 100,000 pink–footed geese in Iceland head to Lancashire for the winter.

The Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust said the geese travel in flocks to learn flight paths, with the most experienced birds flying at the front of the V formation seen in the skies above Sefton and West Lancashire during the autumn.

Visitors can watch the geese on special dawn flight events on October 22 and 29, starting at 7am, and costing £15. To book, call Lucy on 01704 895181.

Life, love and death story – but told with no words

Report by David Simister

A HAUNTING story told entirely without words is the subject of a play heading to Ormskirk's Rose Theatre next month.

Award winning production company Theatre Ad Infinitum will be bringing Edinburgh Fringe favourite Translunar Paradise to the the theatre at Edge Hill University on October 11.

A spokesman for the company said: "Theatre Ad Infinitum invites you on a journey of life, death, and enduring love. After his wife passes away, William escapes to a paradise of fantasy and past memories, a place far from the reality of his grief. Returning from beyond the grave, Rose revisits her widowed companion to perform one last act of love: to help him let go.

"It is a powerful and emotional tale of a man who is confronted by the solitude of bereavement. Director and performer George Mann took inspiration from WB Yeats' The Tower and promises that 'The audience will be immersed in feeling, sensations and movements.

"This isn't a gloomy story, it's uplifting and all about the wonderful memories William and Rose share together – from their courting days in the 40s through the joys, trials and tribulations of their relationship spanning over 60 years."

Translunar Paradise is told entirely without words, with the story being told instead using movement, haunting music and the use of masks. Tickets for the show, which starts at 7.30pm, cost £9 and £7 concessions. For booking information visit www.edgehill.ac.uk/rosetheatre/whatson or call 01695 584480.

Join the Zombie Prom

FRESH from performing at Disneyland Paris, and following on from their success with the smash hit musical 'Hairspray', SONG are preparing to embark on their next big adventure and are looking for people to take part, writes Ron Ellis.

'Zombie Prom' (from the writers of 'The Witches of Eastwick') is a fast paced, vibrant and fun musical set in 1950s America.

At the dawn of the Atomic Age, the kids of Enrico Fermi High are excited about the prospects of their school prom – until tragedy strikes. Toffee is forbidden to continue her romance with her first love, the rebel Jonny. Distraught, he throws himself into the local nuclear reactor and dies.

Determined not to let Toffee attend the prom on her own, he returns as a zombie – much to the disgust of the principal, Miss Delilah Strict.

Think of a combination of 'Grease', 'High School Musical' and 'Return of the Forbidden Planet' and you have the wonderful pastiche that is 'Zombie Prom'.

If you are aged between nine and 18 and interested in being in the show, an audition preparation workshop is being held at St James Church Hall, Lulworth Road, Birkdale at 2pm on September 25.

All information is on the SONG web site at www.songuk.org or, alternatively, contact Linda Davies, SONG Secretary, on 07720 784757.

XV brings new style to Subaru

A NEW Subaru off–roader on its way to the UK is a "professional tool with a trendy design", according to its creators.

The XV has lots of features familiar to fans of the Japanese firm's offerings – namely a 'boxer' engine and four wheel drive – but it's been created using a concept the company calls ProTren, a blend of "professional tool" and "trendy design".

In plain English it means this five–seater has a sporty, angular look on the outside, but the car is geared towards being as roomy as possible.

There's no word on prices yet but the XV will be available to order from November.

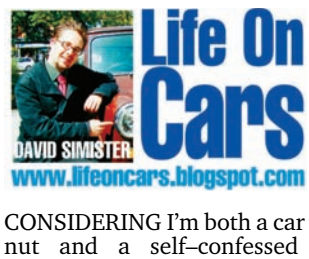
Champion MOTORS

Beeb show had plenty to get revved up about



Sue Perkins and Charley Boorman on the show.

CONSIDERING I'm both a car nut and a self–confessed couch potato I find most motoring telly a bit hard to chew.

I've written about Top Gear before, which is by far my favourite car show but even I admit it strays from being serious to silly, often in the space of a single episode. Then there's the generic rubbish – usually on ITV or BBC Four – which are all directed by someone who deems that motoring programmes must feature Driving In My Car at least once. It's Madness. Literally.

In fact, since the original Top Gear and the Channel Four show Driven went west there's been little to get revved up about. So I'm surprised an all–too–short series that's just finished on BBC Two had me hooked.

World's Most Dangerous Roads sounds like the sort of dull show you'd find lingering in the Discovery Turbo schedules but don't let the title put you off, it's one of the best bits of Sunday night TV I've seen in a long time. The recipe's simple; get two go–getting celebs, send them to somewhere remote with a poor road safety record, stick them in a 4x4 and dial the tension up to 11. Well researched, packed with suspense and superbly produced, I reckon it's one of the best things the Beeb's done all year.

Admittedly, the sight of 'slebs swearing at a battered Nissan Patrol was always going to appeal to me but many non–petrolheads I know were watching it too, simply because it was a truly tense bit of television. The best bit was watching Hugh Dennis and Ben Fogle threading their Toyota Tundra along the narrowest of Peruvian mountain passes, crawling just inches from certain death as knackered trucks thundered past the other way.

If you liked that Top Gear special in which Jeremy Clarkson had a similar near miss in Bolivia, you'll love World's Most Dangerous Roads. It's just a shame last Sunday's episode was the last of only three episodes, because this series was one that definitely deserved a longer run.

Griffiths cleans up as Ormskirk take title

SIMON Kerrigan, fresh from his heroics with Lancashire at Taunton, turned out for his league team against Rainford on Saturday and took three wickets for six runs to help Ormskirk clinch the Bridging Finance Solutions Liverpool Competition Premier Division trophy.

Gavin Griffiths took five wickets for 20, all from the visitors top six batsmen and Nicky Caunce and Martyn Farrel one wicket each as the visitors were dismissed for just 60. Ormskirk reached the target in 15 overs, losing only the wicket of Matthew Glayzer who was caught for 16.

John Armstrong was 24 not out at the end, with Jye Sampson on 19 as Ormskirk secured a nine wicket win.

They ended 15 points clear of Northern who beat Highfield by 54 runs. Leigh finished in fourth place, one place ahead of Bootle, with neither of those sides completing their matches.

Hightown had their last match of the season called off at New Brighton.

Skelmersdale finished in fifth place in the second division after their match against Sutton St Helens was abandoned early on with only 7.2 over of play possible with Sutton on 33–0. Ainsdale finished on top of the division with Fleetwood Hesketh also promoted.

Hard fought draw in the cup for Linnets

FA Cup first qualifying round
Burscough 2
Clitheroe 2

THE home side went close early on when full back Chris Smalley cleared off the line, writes Stan Petherbridge.

Clitheroe responded and in the 18th minute Eddie Stanford hit a terrific free kick which rattled the crossbar, and soon the visitors took the lead through a fine shot from Nathan Taylor.

The Linnets pressed for an equaliser and a Conor Roberts free–kick hit the post.

Burscough were lucky in the 38th minute when Adam Farley slipped and Josh Nine went round the keeper but stumbled as he was about to shoot, keeper Craig Ellison turning towards his own goal to dive on the ball.

The sides went in at half–time with the home side lucky to be only one goal down.

Shortly after the break a long ball from skipper James Connolly was fastened onto by Mark Beesley who lobbed the ball over the advancing keeper.

In the 58th minute a moment's madness by the home keeper brought him a yellow card and a penalty for the visitors when he fetched down Josh Nine on the edge of the box, with the kick converted by Ash Parillon.

Substitute Ashley Higgins proved the saviour for the Linnets firing in from just inside the box.

Walwyn keeps Skem on top

Durham City 0
Skelmersdale United 3

UNITED maintained their lead in the Evo–Stik Division One North by bringing a well earned three points back to the West Lancashire College Stadium, achieving United's first win at Durham since Amateur Cup days, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

The catalyst for the victory was a brace of typical goal poacher's goals from new signing Matt Walwyn.

The UTS Durham Arena has an artificial surface and maybe this would account for the time it took Skelmersdale to get going, and goalkeeper Sam Ashton and his defenders certainly earned their corn in the opening half–hour.

A Ross Wilkinson header crashed against the crossbar before it was cleared away while Amar Purewal posed a big treat.

Skelmersdale gradually gained a foothold, and a minute before the interval the game changed. Woolcott put Aaron Bowen away down the right of the home penalty area and the big centre–forward drove a shot toward the far post.

Whether it was going in or fractionally wide we will never know, because, timing his run to perfection, Walwyn appeared to direct the ball into the net from close range for an opportunist's goal.

Effectively, the game was over in the 66th minute when Ken Strickland played the ball to Woolcott and set off in search of a through ball, Woolcott duly supplied, but instead of shooting Strickland unselfishly put the ball into the far–post area and Walwyn fired home from about three yards.

Shaun Tuck made it three in the 76th minute, when a long ball over the top was helped on, Tuck and Walwyn chased it, Tuck got there first and swept the ball past the advancing Winters.

Skem manager Tommy Lawson said: "We showed great spirit and defended well when we had to, so I was delighted."
